Older buyers (55+): separate campaign or separate creative?

Separate creative, same campaigns

- Too little data for a campaign. The signal is 5 purchases on €111. A 55+ campaign would split €40/day into pieces too small to leave learning.
- Creative is the targeting now. With a broad audience, Meta shows each ad to the people who react to it. An ad with a 60-year-old in a slava kitchen finds 55+ buyers on its own.
- What to do: make T9 (grandma at slava) and use 50–65 creators for T3 and T4. Test them in Campaign 2. Winners move into Campaign 1, where Meta keeps sending them to 55+.

Only if you want proof: in week 3–4, run a Meta A/B test (Experiments) with the same 3 ads: broad vs age 45–65+, €5/day each, 14 days. Build a separate 45+ campaign only if its CPA is ≥30% lower after 10+ purchases.

Launch day checklist

- Create audiences: 50% video viewers 60d, site visitors 30d, buyers 25d / 30d / 45d. Engagers, cart 14d and buyers 180d already exist.
- Reuse existing posts for W1–W3 and R2 (use the post ID) so they keep their likes and comments.
- Pause both current campaigns the day C1–C3 go live, so nothing bids against itself.
- Turn off Audience Network in account-level placement controls.
- Name everything like T04_Day_0tkopcano_UGC_v1 so results are easy to read.

Rules to run it by target CPA ≈ €25 (break-even on a Combo order at ~60% margin, confirm margin)

TEST → WINNERS

- After 1,000 impressions: CTR ≥ 2% and link CTR ≥ 1%
- and cost per add-to-cart ≤ €10, or at least 1 sale
- Move it in using the same post ID

KILL

- €50 spent with 0 sales
- CPA above €35 after €100 spent
- Weekly frequency above 3 with falling CTR: refresh the hook

SCALE

- +20% on Winners (≈ + €5/day) every 3–4 days while CPA is on target
- Never double the budget in one go
- Keep Test at €10–15 and Retarget at ~15%

RETARGETING

- Judge Warm on cost per add-to-cart
- Judge Hot and Refill on sales
- If Refill has <200 people, pause it and let Hot run
